

Serious electrical incidents – Queensland workers

How many serious electrical incidents?

Queensland workers are involved in 16 serious electrical incidents every year - two of which are fatal.

Where are they occurring?

One in five serious electrical incidents occur while performing work at either rural or construction sites.

How many apprentices are involved?

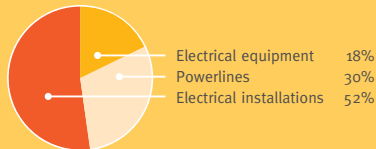

One apprentice is involved in a serious electrical incident each year on average.

What electrical equipment is involved?

Over half of all serious electrical incidents involve either high voltage powerlines or switchboards.

What's the source of serious electrical incidents for workers?

What's causing serious electrical incidents for workers?

Electrical Safety Office